

Meeting Prayer

When we feel something passionately and others not so much let us hold our passion like a flower trusting that it is a part, but only a part of the bouquet

When numbers are confusing, words a blur let us wait for the explanation trusting we can safely ask when mystification remains

When we sense perhaps some that we work for don't know (or maybe even care) what we do here let us hold them in our hearts none the less for that with all the whole movement that is Grail

When we feel drained let us at the same time remember the cup that is enough

When we feel impatient let us know that the "wisdom of the group" will prevail if given time

When we are weary to the bone let our strength be buttressed like a cathedral arch by determination, perseverance and wit
